

Office of Diversity, Inclusion & Equity

Global Women Who Used Their Superpowers to Lead, Protest, and Reform Our World

Linda H. Collins

Associate Professor of History
St. Louis Community College – Florissant Valley

Friday, March 8

12:00-1:00 p.m.

Goldfarb Hall, Room 132

Dr. Collins grew up in Atlanta during the Civil Rights era and interacted with Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., his wife Coretta King, and her church pastor, Rev. Joseph Lowery. Her graduate school instructors taught her about the struggles of women globally to achieve justice and equality.

Dr. Collins evolved as an educator committed to social justice and for more than three decades has encouraged students to embrace a commitment to social justice, equality, and improvement of their corner of the world.

---

Pizza provided with RSVP to diversity@brownschool.wustl.edu by March 6