Art as a Platform for Conversation: Truth and Reckonings

Wednesday, February 26
12 pm
Teaching Gallery

Washington University staff and faculty are invited to a conversation on race, discrimination, and civil rights in the United States, prompted by artworks on view in the Museum’s current Teaching Gallery exhibition, Truth and Reckonings: The Art of Transformative Racial Justice.

This program is a collaboration with Diversity and Inclusion for Faculty and Staff (DIFFS). Space is limited. Register at rochelle.caruthers@wustl.edu.
